May 27, 2003

The Honorable Steve Sviggum
Speaker of the House of Representatives
The State of Minnesota

Dear Speaker Sviggum:

I have vetoed and am returning H. F. No. 624, Chapter No. 103, a bill relating to legislative approval required for certain rules.

This bill reflects a very admirable attempt by the Legislature to address frustrating unfunded mandates that are sometimes the result of administrative rulemaking. While I agree with this goal, I am concerned about the unintended consequences of this legislation.

The bill essentially shifts authority for conducting rulemaking from the executive branch to the legislative branch. Under current law, the legislature has granted the Governor's office final approval authority on all rulemakings. This is sound policy as it provides accountability in a way that does not paralyze either branch of government. H. F. No. 624 would impose that responsibility on the already over-stressed legislative process.

The changes proposed in this legislation would also add considerable delay and cost to Minnesota's rulemaking process, by requiring legislative approval of all major rulemakings. Major rulemaking in Minnesota already takes 18 to 24 months to complete, if everything goes smoothly. Requiring legislative approval as an additional stop at the end of this process would make implementation of state laws and policies very cumbersome.

The $10,000 threshold which triggers legislative review is too low and would require the legislature to address a wide variety of issues that have been appropriately delegated to agencies by the legislature.

Finally, I am also concerned that this bill could vitiate agencies ability to effectively enact rules. Because the Legislature is only in session for a few months out of the year, it is impractical for the Legislature to act on all proposed rules in a timely manner. This delay in requiring legislative approval could result in expiration of the timelines for rules under current law. Currently the Legislature has the authority to change or amend an existing rule through legislation. Existing law, which allows the legislature to essentially override any rule passed by an agency, would seem to provide ample protections against overly burdensome or unnecessary rules.

Sincerely,

TIM PAWLENTY
Governor

[NOTE: Pursuant to Joint Rule 3.02(c), the above vetoed bill, H. F. No. 624 (Chapter No. 103), which was returned to the House by the Governor with his objections, was laid on the table.]

STATE OF MINNESOTA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
SAINT PAUL 55155

May 28, 2003

The Honorable Steve Sviggum
Speaker of the House of Representatives
The State of Minnesota

Dear Speaker Sviggum:

It is my honor to inform you that I have received, approved, signed, and deposited in the Office of the Secretary of State the following House Files:

H. F. No. 294, relating to the military; requiring payment of a salary differential and continuation of certain benefits to certain state employees who are members of the national guard or other military reserve units and who reported for active military duty; permitting local governments to pay a similar salary differential for their employees who are members of the national guard or other military reserve units and who have reported for active military service.

H. F. No. 768, relating to veterans; classifying military certificates of discharge as private data on individuals; providing procedures for their release.

H. F. No. 719, relating to liquor; allowing brewpubs to make off-sales of the brewpub's own product under certain circumstances; modifying a posting requirement; modifying licensing provisions; expanding sale hours; modifying sampling provisions; authorizing certain local on-sale licenses.

Sincerely,

TIM PAWLENTY
Governor
