

Fair Health Care Policy for Minnesotans with Disabilities

A new state law went into effect January 1, 2014. This new law raises the amount Minnesotans are allowed to make each month and still be eligible for Minnesota's Medicaid Program (MA or Medical Assistance) also known as Medicaid Expansion. This is a great health care reform; however, there is one big problem. The law left people with disabilities and seniors behind.

Why should people with disabilities and seniors be forced to live in deeper poverty than fellow Minnesotans who are accessing the same health care program?

People with disabilities and seniors without earned income who need Medical Assistance must spend their Social Security on health care down to 75% FPG. This "spend-down" requirement leaves over 12,000 seniors and persons with disabilities with only $719/mo to live on. We need to address this unequal policy and promote changes that would raise the income limit for people with disabilities and seniors up to the same level as other adults who live in the same communities, pay the same bills and shop in the same stores.
