Aaron Squadroni	2015	RAC 03	Career Development Grant	$1,232	Coleraine	Iron Range Land Portraits. To tell the story of the Mesabi Iron Range, I will create a series of land portraits: graphite drawings that convey a narrative of the land. I want to produce drawings that record the history of landmarks and sacred spaces based on traditional legends, government treaties, current disputes, and future visions. These land portraits will create continuity where great changes have occurred in the landscape or are likely to occur in the future. I hope that the Mesabi Iron Range and its story can become part of the public consciousness in a way that influences the future of Minnesota's landscape.

Amy Woschek Schmidt	2015	RAC 03	Career Development Grant	$1,232	Hovland	Amy Woschek Schmidt, Poetry. The proposed budget for this grant aims to provide focused attention on my poetry manuscript, "Wearing a Dress of Onion Skins." I will utilize poet, editor teacher and translator Patrick Donnelly's expertise and careful, thoughtful eye in an intimate, one on one manuscript review. Please see Patrick's website for more information on his credentials. http://www.patrickdonnelypoems.com/site/Welcome.html . An additional portion of the money will go towards registration cost to attend The Association of Writers and Writing Program 2015 Conference for Writers. Association of Writers and Writing Program provides community, opportunities, ideas, news, and advocacy for writers and teachers of writing.

Cheryl Reitan	2015	RAC 03	Career Development Grant	$1,223	Duluth	Thunder of Freedom Readers Theater. This grant is to help fund a Readers Theater production of the screenplay, Thunder of Freedom. The Clayton, Jackson, McGhie Memorial Committee has invited me to present Thunder of Freedom to commemorate the 95th anniversary of the lynching of Elias Clayton, Elmer Jackson and Isaac McGhie in Duluth. The screenplay is based on another story about civil rights, as told in the book "Thunder of Freedom: Black Leadership and the Transformation of 1960s Mississippi" by Sue [Lorenzi] Sojourner with Cheryl Reitan. The script tells the story of a group of Holmes County, Mississippi, black farmers who helped elect the first African American to the Mississippi legislature in the 20th century.

I would like to work with former editor from Milkweed Press, Ben Barnhart, on a full manuscript edit and consultation for my memoir, The Idealists' Daughter. The manuscript critique would include a line-edited manuscript, along with suggestions for a revision strategy, and recommend a publishing strategy for the revised work. The manuscript is complete at 73,000 words and 236 pages. A professional editor's expertise is the final step to ensure that the manuscript is ready to send to agents and publishers. Publishing this book has been my goal since beginning a Masters of Fine Art program in 2004 and through my continued work on my writing career.

Gina Temple-Rhodes	2015	RAC 03	Career Development Grant	$1,200	Duluth	Listen Local: Audio Storytelling in Duluth. Listen Local will draw on the tradition of oral history interviews of elders and significant local residents and will provide ways to share those voices and stories more widely through audio storytelling. This storytelling will be done through an "Archives Alive" Reader's Theater production and by creating podcasts that will be available on local websites or possibly broadcast on local radio. Topics covered will include local history, environmental damage and restoration, and farming. Listen Local is a new project launched to help share the stories recorded in interviews and to bring the transcripts and recordings alive and into the ears of more local residents.

For this exhibit, I will include unique, experiential images of action and candid portraits from roller derby bouts from across the Iron Range in Minnesota. Images included in the exhibition bear witness to the passion, strength, skill, and displays of roller derby. Roller derby produces a one-of-a-kind aesthetic, combining traditionally feminine elements (dramatic makeup and fishnet hose) with elements of a contact sport (protective gear, aggressive maneuvering, and visibly painful falls). The sport empowers women, creates a sense of sisterhood among teammates, and rallies the community around these women who are themselves part of the community.

Jeffrey Kalstrom	2015	RAC 03	Quick Start Opportunity Grants	$293	Duluth	My sculpture the house in the shape of a dog's head is nearing completion at Franconia Sculpture Park. The work is a small but human sized studio and living space. In fabricating the sculpture I have developed ideas for performances in which I inhabit the house and engage with visitors. In the performance I will adopt the persona of an artist obsessed with dogs and the philosophy of the pre-Socratic Greek philosopher Diogenes. While performing I will create paintings of dogs and talk to visitors about dogs, tiny houses and philosophy. For this project I will set up a special painting station, and clotheslines in the backyard of the house to display the paintings.

Jessica Roeder	2015	RAC 03	Quick Start Opportunity Grants	$293	Duluth	From August 14 through 17, I hope to travel to Brooklyn, New York, to take part in a professional development workshop with the Dance for Parkinson's Disease program of the Mark Morris Dance Group. The workshop will include specialized dance classes in diverse forms as well as a structured exchange of ideas between teachers from across the international Dance for Parkinson's Disease teachers' network, of which I'm a member. It will allow me to return to Duluth more knowledgeable, better connected with other teachers, and freshly inspired.
John Zasada	2015	RAC 03	Quick Start Opportunity Grants	$293	Grand Rapids	Traditional Woven Birch Paper Ornaments. I will provide 12 hours of art instruction to primarily students in grades 7-12, supported by their families and community members in the Deer River/Itasca County area on how to make Birch paper stars and other ornaments using Basswood twine decorated with wooden beads. All materials are hand harvested, indigenous to this Northern Minnesota area. The goal is to teach a minimum of 25 adults and 30 children under the age of 18 as participants to make a minimum of 55 ornaments of 6" or larger that will be transported to Washington DC in late November for the Tree-to-DC project.

Michelle Wegler	2015	RAC 03	Quick Start Opportunity Grants	$234	Duluth	I am seeking funds for purchase of an advanced acrylic glazing product for my pastel paintings. Pastel paintings require framing and glazing to protect them. The glazing has traditionally been glass, as acrylic develops static and pulls the pastel crystals off the painting. Acrylic is also susceptible to scratching and yellowing. Glass is susceptible to breakage and is heavy. Museum acrylic has been developed to be non-reflective, non-yellowing, and scratch resistant in addition to the qualities of being lightweight and break resistant.

I am currently working to familiarize myself with the hardware, but I'm also in need of some more software and drawing pens to fully utilize my new tablet. In addition, it would be wise for me to get an external hard drive to be constantly backing up my work.
Sean Elmquist	2015	RAC 03	Technology/Equipment Grant for Individual Artist	$1,200	Duluth	I want to record an album of new material with my band Southwire. I am the producer, drummer and co-writer of the band, and I need a new laptop to write, record, mix and master the record. I will also use the laptop to record and collaborate with other musicians in the community.
Shaunna Schanzenbach	2015	RAC 03	Technology/Equipment Grant for Individual Artist	$596	Duluth	Duluth artist Shaunna Heckman will purchase a new computer and digital rack mixer for her new electronica music project. These tools will allow her to compose quickly, incorporate acoustic and electronic elements seamlessly, prerecord tracks before going to a studio (thus saving studio costs), and create a stage show that is professional and consistent from venue to venue. She will learn how to use the equipment; compose new music and create a stage show that is based on using the digital mixer; rehearse with her band; and perform a CD release of her new music in Duluth in the fall of 2015.
