

Parents are legally and morally responsible for their children. This bill undermines the legal authority of parents by preferring a public education over other choices of education, such as private schools and homeschools. It is taking away opportunities from our children. It also gives the state, or rather judges, the authority to determine what quality education is rather than the parents, teachers, and local school board members. This bill is not right for Minnesota's children or for the future of Minnesota.
