

Subject Brewer and malt liquor definitions modified

Authors Carlson

Analyst Christopher Kleman

Date March 14, 2022

Overview

H.F. 3626 would amend the definition of “brewer” to include any person that owns a malt liquor brand and would modify the definition of “beer” to include malt substitutes. In addition, the definition of “beer” would include any beverage meeting the definition of malt liquor.

Summary

Section	Description
---------	-------------

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 | Brewer.
Amends the definition of “brewer” to include a person that owns a malt liquor brand. Current law defines a brewer as a person that manufactures malt liquor for sale. |
| 2 | Malt liquor.
Amends the definition of malt liquor to include non-distilled beverages made by the fermentation of malt substitutes such as rice, grain, sugar, or molasses. Also defines “beer” as any beverage meeting the definition of “malt liquor.” |