EXPLANATION OF THE BILL

Under current law property taxes are allocated based on the value of land and improvements of a parcel. Improvements may include things like structures and buildings. The proposal would allow cities to create land-value taxation districts in which property taxes would be reallocated using one or more of four methods, including two based solely on land values that would exclude improvements to the parcel.

REVENUE ANALYSIS DETAIL

- Under the proposal it is unknown how many land-value taxations districts would be created.
- The creation of land-value taxation districts may shift taxes away from some parcels and onto others within a district. Depending on the shifting, it is possible the property tax changes may increase or decrease state general fund costs for property tax refunds beginning in FY2025.

PROPERTY TAX BENCHMARKS (Minn. Stat. § 270C.991)

Transparency, Understandability, Simplicity & Accountability	Decrease	Adds new complexity for the allocation of property taxes which may be confusing for property taxpayers.
Efficiency & Compliance	Decrease	Reporting of the initial allocation and reallocation of property taxes is more complex
Equity (Vertical & Horizontal)	Neutral
Stability & Predictability	Neutral
Competitiveness for Businesses	Neutral	Businesses in districts may have lower property taxes after reallocation.
Responsiveness to Economic Conditions	Neutral

The bill is scored on a three-point scale (decrease, neutral, increase) for each principle in comparison to current law.
