We not only champion sustainability, but we transform waste into value. A leader in the circular economy, we create eco-friendly packaging solutions, minimizing our environmental footprint while maximizing social impact.

For over 30 years, Liberty Paper, Inc. (LPI) has specialized in crafting high-quality paper from 100% recycled material.

LPI is the largest corrugated recycler in the Midwest. Annually, we convert 250,000 tons of old corrugated containers into paper to make new boxes.

We recycle 874 million pounds of steam to power our mill, annually.

All our manufactured products are SFI®, FSC®, and PEFC certified.

We employ 150 employees in Becker, Minnesota, across three shifts, with an average annual salary of $87,400.

When families across the metro area recycle corrugated boxes at the end of their driveways, that material most likely ends up at LPI, where we turn it into paper for packaging. This circular economy ensures that used paper is continuously recovered, repurposed, and reintroduced into the supply chain.
