This act clarifies that a nonpublic postsecondary institution providing student data or records to the Office of Higher Education is not liable for a breach in confidentiality, disclosure, use, retention or destruction of the data or records attributable to the Office or to persons with access to the data or records through the Office. Postsecondary institutions must provide data to the Office of Higher Education to carry out the Office's statutory responsibilities and must provide information on student enrollment and financial aid. This act is effective August 1, 2011.
