This act permits, under a Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) “specific service” sign program, placement of signs at two separate trunk highway intersection or interchange locations for an eligible business or service, if the business is located between and within 15 miles of each of the sign locations.

The specific service sign program provides for informational signs for directions to eligible businesses and services that are provided to the traveling public. The signs are placed on nonfreeway trunk highways in rural areas. State law establishes various requirements for the program, and one of the restrictions is to allow placement at only one intersection or interchange location. However, current law also establishes that “additional signing may be considered” under some circumstances, which is replaced with the revised provision. Minn. Stat. § 160.293, subd. 3.
