Minnesota Statutes, sections 343.40, subdivision 3, and 346.39, subdivision 4, both govern protection of dogs from direct rays of the sun, but one requires shade from May to October and the other requires shade from June to September.

This amendment makes them consistent by using the dates from the more recent legislative enactment.

Sec. 70. Explanation. This amendment replaces the word "now" with the original effective date of the section to avoid confusion as to whether the section reflects the current makeup of the Lake Superior Sanitary District.

Sec. 71. Explanation. This amendment deletes a cross-reference to a repealed section and corrects the name of a defined term.

Sec. 72. Explanation. This amendment corrects a drafting oversight and makes this language consistent with other references to the metropolitan landfill contingency action trust account.

Sec. 74. Explanation. Laws 2004, chapter 203, article 1, section 7, changed the rescission period in Minnesota Statutes, section 515B.4-106, from ten days to five days. This amendment corrects the reference to the rescission period to make the reference consistent with it.

Sec. 75. Explanation. This amendment corrects an erroneous reference.

Sec. 76. Explanation. This amendment deletes erroneous language.

Sec. 77. Explanation. The repeal of Minnesota Rules, part 6700.1300, in this article requires deletion of statutory language in Minnesota Statutes, section 626.84, subdivision 1, which by implication refers to that rule.

Sec. 78. Explanation. This amendment corrects an erroneous reference. The stricken language referred to a nonexistent subdivision.

Sec. 79. Explanation. This amendment clarifies the effective date of the act to reflect the legislature's intent that only the Uniform Limited Partnership Act and its conforming changes become effective January 1, 2005. Articles 14 and 15 were amended onto the bill without specific effective dates and would have become effective July 1, 2004, pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, section 645.02. Through an oversight, the effective date of these two articles was not specified when they were added.

Sec. 80. Explanation. This amendment corrects a drafting error. Only section 1 of Laws 2004, chapter 261, article 6, was codified and intended to expire on August 1, 2010. The other sections of article 6 are not laws that would appropriately expire.

Sec. 81. Explanation. Minnesota Statutes 2002, section 62J.692, subdivision 4, was amended by Laws 2003, First Special Session chapter 14, article 7, section 17, and Laws 2003, First Special Session chapter 21, article 9, section 1. Chapter 14 struck paragraph (e), while chapter 21 amended paragraph (e), striking obsolete language and adding new language to conform to the other amendments creating an editorial conflict. Because the amendments from both chapters could be merged editorially except for the stricken paragraph (e) in chapter 14, both the chapter 14 amendments, except for the stricken paragraph (e), and the chapter 21 amendments were printed in the main text. The striking of paragraph (e) in chapter 14 was printed as a note. The intent of this amendment is to give effect to both sets of amendments and allows the revisor to remove the note.

Sec. 82. Explanation.

Subdivision 1. This repealer removes a subdivision authorizing adjustments to the dry cleaner registration fee. The authorization expired June 30, 2003.

Subd. 2. This repealer removes a duplicative amendment made during the 2003 session and allows the revisor to remove the note containing the amendatory language. The later amendment to Minnesota Statutes, section 473.123 in Laws 2003, First Special Session chapter 16, sections 9 and 10, created new Metropolitan Council district boundaries codified as subdivision 3d. The new district boundaries reflected the substance of Laws 2003, chapter 8, section 2, by removing the city of Rockford in Hennepin County from the metropolitan area.

Subd. 3. The section proposed for repeal amends Minnesota Statutes, section 192.501, subdivision 2, relating to tuition and textbook reimbursement grants to National Guard members. That section was also amended in the same legislative session in Laws 2004, chapter 256, article 1, section 3. Because the two amendments could not be merged editorially, the later chapter 256 amendment was printed in the main text and the chapter 219 amendment was printed as a note. The two amendments have virtually the same substance. This repealer allows the revisor to remove the note containing the amendatory language from the earlier act.

Subd. 4. The section proposed for repeal added Minnesota Statutes, section 151.214, relating to disclosure of pharmacy co-payment amounts. That section was also added in the same legislative session in Laws 2004, chapter 268, section 13. Because the two sections could not be merged editorially, the chapter 268 amendment was printed in the main text and the chapter 288 amendment was printed as a note. The only difference between the two was the use of the word "purchaser" instead of "patient." This repealer repeals the earlier law and allows the revisor to remove the note containing the amendatory language.

Subd. 5. This subdivision repeals obsolete rules of the Department of Veterans Affairs. Minnesota Rules, part 9055.0125, concerning bonuses for World War II merchant mariners is no longer needed because the application period for those bonuses expired on December 31, 1995, and the department may not accept any further applications.

Parts 9055.0500 to 9055.0610 concerning the County Veterans Service Officer Grant Program are no longer needed because the legislature approved a new method of making those grants that has eliminated the need for counties to apply for the grants.

Subd. 6. This amendment repeals obsolete Peace Officer Standards and Training Board rules. Minnesota Rules, part 6700.0100, subpart 14, is a definition of first aid course that has been superseded by another definition. Minnesota Rules, part 6700.1300 provides a system for part-time peace officers to transition to full-time peace officers. This rule has not been used in over 20 years because its requirements that a "compelling need" be demonstrated sets out standards that are too onerous for appointing authorities to meet.

ARTICLE 2

OBSOLETE CONSTABLE AND MARSHAL PROVISIONS

Explanation. Constables and state marshals once performed peace officer and other minor governmental functions, but no longer are in existence. Sections which refer to constables and marshals and obsolete constable or marshal duties are repealed. In most sections a revisor instruction requires removal of references to constables, deputy constables, marshals, and statutory city marshals leaving in references to peace officers and other governmental officials. In some cases where a statute authorizes the appointment of peace officers with the same duties as constables, the entire statute was repealed.

ARTICLE 3

UPDATING AND CONFORMING FINES

Explanation. The current two-tiered criminal penalty structure (gross misdemeanor and misdemeanor offenses) dates back to 1913. At that time, a "gross misdemeanor" constituted an offense with a maximum term of incarceration of one year (the same as current law), and a "misdemeanor" offense was subject to a maximum term of incarceration of three months (the same as current law). The only difference between the nonfelony offenses of 1913 and the offenses of today is the maximum fine level.

The legislature intends a two-tiered incarcerative-monetary penalty structure. Minnesota Statutes, section 609.033, provides that all misdemeanor monetary penalties in the statutes on or after August 1, 2000, shall be deemed to provide for a maximum fine of $1,000. Minnesota Statutes, section 609.0341, subdivision 1, provides that all gross misdemeanor penalties in the statutes on or after August 1, 1983, shall be deemed to provide for a maximum fine of $3,000.

In Laws 2004, chapter 228, article 1, section 72, a revisor's instruction directed the revisor to implement the two-tiered monetary penalty codified in sections 609.033 and 609.0341. Most of the sections were changed under the revisor's instruction, changing misdemeanor fines from $700 to $1,000 and gross misdemeanor fines from $1,000 to $3,000.

This article implements the provisions in the 2004 revisor's bill that instructs the revisor to prepare a bill further correcting statutory penalty provisions.

ARTICLE 4

GUARDIANSHIP AND CONSERVATORSHIP

Explanation. The Uniform Guardianship and Protective Proceedings Act was enacted by Laws 2003, chapter 12, and codified in the Uniform Probate Code as Minnesota Statutes, sections 524.5-101 to 524.5-502. The concepts of guardianships and conservatorships "of the estate" or "of the person" were eliminated, leaving simply "guardians" and "conservators." This article deletes the obsolete concepts from sections of Minnesota Statutes in which they still appear and corrects obsolete cross-references to guardianship and conservatorship provisions in Minnesota Statutes and Minnesota Rules.

ARTICLE 5

RETIREMENT PROVISIONS

Section 1. Explanation. This section amends Minnesota Statutes, section 353.01, subdivision 2, to include full-time employees of the Dakota County Agricultural Society in the definition of public employees. This section and the repealer in section 5 allow the revisor to eliminate a note that included the provision. The note was needed because the section was amended two times in the same legislative session and the amendments could not be merged editorially.

Sec. 2. Explanation. This amendment corrects a reference to a section that was repealed.

Sec. 3. Explanation. This amendment corrects two references to sections that have been repealed.

Sec. 4. Explanation. This amendment corrects several references to a section that was repealed.

Sec. 5. Explanation. This section repeals the section that contained the language with the conflict referred to in section 1.
