Overview

School districts levies are constrained by state law. A school district may only levy for the programs and up to the amounts authorized by state law. The only exceptions to this rule are for voter-approved levies for operating purposes (referendum levies) and voter-approved levies for building needs.

In some years, the legislature has granted special levy authority to individual school districts for a specific purpose. This bill authorizes the New London-Spicer School District to levy $750,000 over a five-year period to raise the funds necessary to replace an elementary school roof.

Section
