Overview

This bill modifies existing law to provide that the complete terms of any agreement settling a dispute arising out of an employment relationship involving an entity covered by the government data practices act is public data. Similarly, the bill requires that all of the specific reasons for an agreement must be disclosed if it involves the payment of more than $10,000 of public money.

The bill also adds certain officials in political subdivisions to the law providing for public disclosure of data relating to a complaint or charge against the official. Existing provisions regulating the time when these data would become public are unchanged.
