Overview

This bill modifies provisions governing motor vehicle crashes, stopping, collision reporting, and terminology. Among the changes, it: (1) replaces the term “accident” with “collision;” (2) expands a driver’s duty to stop for motor vehicle collisions and to investigate what was struck; (3) expands conditions when a driver must remain at the scene and provide information; and (4) limits what constitutes a defense in failure to stop after a collision. The changes also impact the statute on criminal vehicular operation.

Section

- 1 Collisions. Modifies a section governing stops and reporting of motor vehicle collisions. Among the changes, the bill:
- ▶ revises terminology to use “collision” instead of “accident”;
 - ▶ requires a driver to—in addition to stopping—investigate what was struck when a collision occurs;
 - ▶ amends provisions on remaining at the scene and providing information to include when a person knows or reasonably should know about the collision (e.g., one involving bodily injury or death);
 - ▶ clarifies that stops made following collisions with unattended vehicles must not unnecessarily obstruct traffic;
 - ▶ establishes that mistake as to what was struck does not constitute a defense in charges for failure to stop following a collision; and

Section

- ▶ makes technical changes.

2 Criminal vehicular homicide or operation; crime described. Makes conforming changes.
