Overview

This bill classifies financial account numbers as private or nonpublic data for purposes of the data practices act, and creates an exemption to the requirement that a Tennesen warning be provided in cases where an individual's account number is provided to a government entity in the course of a financial transaction.

Section

- 1 Financial account numbers. Classifies financial account numbers, in whole or in part, collected or maintained by a government entity as private or nonpublic data.

This section also provides that a Tennesen warning is not required when an individual provides a financial account number to a government entity in the course of engaging in a financial transaction with that entity.

This section is effective the day following final enactment.
