This bill would borrow $35,000,000 from the bond market and appropriate the proceeds to the Rural Finance Authority (RFA) to purchase participating interests in loans issued by private lenders or to make direct loans to farmers under the RFA's Beginning Farmer, Loan Restructuring, Seller-Sponsored, Agricultural Improvement, and Livestock Expansion loan programs.

Farmer payments of principle and interest under these RFA programs must be sufficient to pay the state's debt service on the $35,000,000 in bonds sold, plus a reserve for potential losses.

The RFA is the state's main agricultural lending arm. Although the RFA has legal authority to issue loans directly, it typically partners with private agricultural lenders to provide favorable financing opportunities for eligible farmers.
