Overview

This bill directs the commissioner of health to establish an advisory council on PANDAS (pediatric autoimmune neuropsychiatric disorders associated with streptococcal infections) and PANS (pediatric acute-onset neuropsychiatric syndrome).

- PANDAS is described as the abrupt onset, or a remitting and relapsing course, of anxiety, emotional responses that are irregular or out of proportion to a situation, obsessions or compulsions, or tics. PANDAS is triggered following a streptococcal infection.
- PANS is described as the abrupt onset of obsessions or compulsions or restricted food intake and two or more of the following: anxiety, irregular emotional responses, irritability or aggression, behavioral regression, deterioration of school performance, sensory or motor abnormalities, and sleep issues. This is a broader category of disorders. These symptoms may not be connected to a streptococcal infection and are not explained by another known neurologic or medical disorder.
