Overview

This bill proposes a resolution urging the President of the United States and the Congress to designate a state funeral for the last surviving World War II Medal of Honor recipient, with an option for the honoree to lie in state in the rotunda of the U.S. Capitol.

Only four World War II veterans who were awarded the Medal of Honor remain alive today, one each residing in the states of Tennessee, New York, Oregon, and West Virginia.

State funerals are generally designated for current and former Presidents, but occasionally others are honored as well. State funerals involve multiple days of ceremonies, including events in the recipient's home state and in Washington, D.C.
