

H.F. 3200
As introduced

Subject Open meeting law

Authors Freiberg and others

Summary

This bill requires all meetings of a public entity to be audio recorded or audio-visually recorded.

Under current law, closed meetings, except those closed under the attorney client privilege, are required to be recorded, with the recordings retained for at least three years, unless another exception applies. For example, the recording of a meeting closed to discuss labor negotiations must be retained for two years after the contract is signed.
