

Subject Future Weather Trends and Public Building Design

Authors Lee

Analyst Bob Eleff

Date April 19, 2022

Summary

House File 4631 appropriates money from the general fund to the University of Minnesota for a study by the university's Institute on the Environment to assess how projections of future weather conditions can be incorporated into the design of public buildings to reduce energy usage and minimize damage from extreme weather events.